

No.	Final RFQ Section	Page	Industry Question/Comment	Government Response
127	General		CLINs 008, 009 and 010 are task order options. Are those options unilateral by the government or would the contractor have the right to decline that optional work? Considering the fact that very little information has been provided for a proper D&D estimate and that the ROD has not been approved, these CLINS are very high risk for small businesses. Can the Offeror decline those CLINs or are they unilateral decisions by the government?	The options for CLINs 008, 009, and 010 will be exercised unilaterally. By signing the contract the contractor is agreeing not only to perform the base work but the additional work should it become available.