SRR-SCM-2015-00229

TO: ALL POTENTIAL OFFERORS

REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL (RFP)
TANK CLOSURE CESIUM REMOVAL (TCCR)

The Department of Energy (DOE) at the Savannah River Site (SRS) is contracted with Savannah River Remediation LLC (SRR) to manage and operate the legacy nuclear liquid waste (LW) system. The LW system consists of several facilities to safely receive, store, treat, and permanently dispose of radioactive waste. The mission of SRR is to treat and stabilize LW and close the older style LW tanks.

Acceleration of tank closures is desired to better assure continued progress in accordance with the Federal Facility Agreement (FFA) commitments among DOE, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the state of South Carolina. A readily deployable, supplemental cesium removal capability (ion exchange) has been determined to be advantageous in supporting this goal.

Please find attached the RFP and supporting documentation resulting from information obtained from the submitted Expression of Interest (EOI) Responses in June 2015.

Proposals are due September 11, 2015 by 5pm local time.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at (803) 952-7614 or email at richard.salem@srs.gov.

Respectfully,

Rick Salem

SECTION II. BASIS FOR AWARD

A. Preface

1. Any award resulting from this solicitation will be made to that offeror whose proposal provides the best value to SRR. This best value determination will be at the sole discretion of SRR and could result in an award to other than the lowest price proposal. Proposals will be evaluated by SRR in accordance with the evaluation criteria described in paragraphs B. and C. below.

2. Section III of this solicitation provides guidance to the offeror concerning the type of information that will be used by SRR to evaluate proposals. It is important that adequate and specific information be furnished in the offeror’s initial proposal submission because it is possible for an award to be made without communications or negotiations with every offeror.

3. SRR anticipates the award of one subcontract under this solicitation. However, SRR reserves the right to change the number of awards, if the Procurement Representative considers such action to be in the best interest of SRR. SRR also reserves the right to:

   a. Reject any or all proposals received in response to this solicitation.
   b. Waive informalities and minor irregularities in proposals received.
   c. Negotiate separately with any offeror in the event the Procurement Representative considers such action to be in the best interest of SRR.
   d. Conduct a preaward survey, at the offeror’s facility.
   e. Cancel this solicitation in its entirety.
   f. Accept other than the lowest priced proposal.
   g. Limit the number of proposals to the greatest number that will permit an efficient competition among the best proposals.
   h. Accept any or all line items of a proposal at the price(s) proposed.
B. Relative Importance of General Evaluation Criteria

1. There are two categories of evaluation criteria as follows:
   a. Technical Capabilities/Organizational Approach
   b. Overall Cost/Schedule to SRR

2. The Technical Capabilities/Organizational Approach is slightly more important than Overall Cost/Schedule to SRR.

3. Each criterion will be rated in accordance with the following rating matrix:

    Poor
    Marginal
    Good
    Very Good

The above ratings will be used as guides to intelligent decision making, but not themselves controlling in determining award.

C. Evaluation Criteria

1. Technical Capabilities/Organizational Approach

   Technical Capabilities is much more important than Organizational Approach.

   a. Technical Capabilities consists of the following criteria and attributes in order of importance:

      + Treatment Capability - The ability to meet the functional performance criteria to treat the salt solution at/above the desired cesium removal effectiveness, at/above the desired flowrate, and minimizing interruptions to process operations and system down time.

      + Operational Simplicity - The degree of complexity of the proposed system to perform its intended function. Factors considered to determine simplicity may include: number of active components, degree of automation and control, number and length of flowpaths, potential failure mechanisms, size of required module/system footprint, etc.

      + Optimization of Resin and Spent Media - Factors influencing this criteria include the selection of resin, efficiency of cesium removal, size of equipment, degree of shielding required, volume of spent media, and complexity of periodic replenishment.

      + Technical Maturity - The demonstrated ability of the proposed system, or similar system, to effectively remove cesium on a similar scale and in a related environment.
b. Organizational Approach consists of two criteria of equal importance:

+ Personnel - The ability to provide and commit qualified and capable personnel to design and manage a project of this technical nature, and fabricate and deliver a treatment system to the level of quality specified.

+ Past Performance - Demonstrated ability to deliver complex/technical solutions to the government or commercial industry

2. Overall Cost/Schedule to SRR

Overall Cost is more important than Schedule

a. Overall cost is divided into two elements in order of importance:

+ Initial Cost - The Supplier's submitted estimate to accomplish the full scope as identified in the Statement of Work (SOW).

+ Lifecycle Operating Cost - The projected cost to SRR for continued utilization of the Tank Closure Cesium Removal system to treat salt solution and remove an additional 1 million curies of cesium beyond the initial 100,000 curies specified in the SOW. Supplier to provide sufficient data (resin volume, resin pricing, storage container/vessel quantity, etc.) to determine Lifecycle Operating Cost. Other consumables (replacement parts, filters, etc.) will not be considered to determine Lifecycle Operating Cost.

b. Schedule - The supplier's proposed execution schedule to accomplish the full scope as identified in the SOW.
